

Morgan Danielle Manning

FEBRUARY 6, 2003 - APRIL 8, 2017

Our Story

At the very young age of 14, our beloved daughter, Morgan Danielle Manning suddenly died from a rare heart condition called CPVT (Catecholaminergic Polymorphic Ventricular Tachycardia). CPVT is a malfunction in the heart's electrical system, causing the heart to stop beating suddenly and unexpectedly. The prevalence of CPVT is estimated to be about 1 in 10,000 people. However, the true widespread presence of this condition is unknown and there currently is no cure. When Morgan died, it felt like a piece of our heart was suddenly gone. That's why we named this foundation - A Piece of My Heart Foundation - to ultimately find a cure for this disease. Thank you for partnering with us to save lives!

Our Mission

To promote awareness and support children and youth diagnosed with CPVT by providing funding for medical research, Automated External Defibrillators (AEDs), genetic testing, and CPR training.

Your Impact!

Continuing to Fund the PACES CPVT Registry: Combining all the medical research from the largest collection of international patients from the pediatric electrophysiology community, and the largest society of pediatric heart rhythm specialists in the world

The Morgan Manning Rising Star Award: Providing a travel scholarship to an allied/basic/clinical researcher who is presenting pediatric CPVT work

Awareness Campaigns: Educating the public and healthcare professionals about CPVT to ensure early diagnosis and proper management
